1. Purpose

This policy defines principles for remote and hybrid working for UK employees and should be read with the employment contract and applicable security and data-protection policies.

2. Eligibility and Approval

Hybrid working is available where a role can be performed effectively away from the office. Approval considers role requirements, team collaboration, customer needs, security and individual circumstances.

Managers may require office attendance for meetings, training, customer activities or other legitimate business reasons.

3. Home Working

Employees working from home are responsible for maintaining a safe and suitable workspace and reporting material health and safety concerns.

Company equipment must be protected from loss, unauthorised access and damage. Confidential information must not be accessible to unauthorised people.

4. Expenses

Reasonable approved business expenses incurred while working remotely may be reimbursed under the company's expenses rules. Ordinary household costs are not automatically reimbursable.

5. Review

The policy is reviewed at least annually and may be updated sooner if legislation, business requirements or security standards change.
